OUR MISSION

Advance research and training to improve the health of patients living with rheumatic diseases.

Purpose

As part of the Choose Rheumatology campaign, the Foundation encourages students and residents to explore a career in the field of rheumatology. The purpose of the Student and Resident Research Award is to recognize outstanding students and residents for significant work in the field of rheumatology as evidenced by being an author or co-author of an abstract submitted to ACR Convergence 2026.

ACR Convergence

The meeting features the latest innovations, science, clinical and business best practices in rheumatology. Attendees will get first-hand access to the latest discoveries and research, transforming rheumatic disease care as well as clinical applications that will improve the health of patients. It is an opportunity to experience personalized learning that allows attendees to expand their knowledge and to discover new areas of interest and focus within rheumatology. For more information about ACR Convergence, check out ACR Convergence 2026.

Award Amount

$1,000 award and a reimbursement of up to $1,000 for travel-related expenses (including airfare, ground transportation, hotel, and meals), plus complimentary registration to attend ACR Convergence 2026.

All applications must be submitted by 5:00 pm ET on the deadline day through ProposalCentral.

Questions about your eligibility or submitting your application? Please contact Award & Grants staff at 404-365-1373 or foundation@rheumatology.org.

Award Eligibility and Guidelines

Eligibility

- All award recipients must abide by Foundation Awards and Grants Policies at all times.
- Applicants must be one of the following:
 - A medical student enrolled in a U.S.-based LCME- accredited medical school, or
 - A graduate student enrolled in an accredited institution, or
 - A resident enrolled in a U.S.-based ACGME-accredited pediatric, medicine or combined medicine/pediatric residency program who is interested in rheumatology.

Additional requirements:

- Applicant must be an author or co-author of an abstract submitted to ACR Convergence 2026 via the ACR/ARP abstract submission portal by the June 9, 2026 deadline.
- Applicants will only be considered for funding based on the abstract(s) listed in their application. Multiple abstracts may be listed in the application, but the applicant's involvement must be justified for each abstract in the application.

Review Criteria

Abstracts must be accepted by the ACR to be eligible for consideration and applications are prioritized based on corresponding abstract scores. Applications are then evaluated using the following criteria:

- Applicant's demonstrated interest in the field of rheumatology
- Applicant's accomplishments, track record, and relevant experiences
- Applicant's contribution to each abstract submitted for consideration
- Demonstrated mentor support
- When necessary, priority may be extended to applicants listed as first author

Applicants will be notified as to the status of their award in September.

Award Terms and Funding

Awardees will receive an award of $1,000, plus complimentary* registration for ACR Convergence.

Awardees are also eligible for reimbursement of up to $1,000 for travel-related expenses (including airfare, ground transportation, hotel, and meals) to attend ACR Convergence 2026.

ACR membership is required to receive complimentary registration to attend ACR Convergence. Membership is free to all student and resident awardees. Join ACR online at ACR Membership.

Attendance at ACR Convergence 2026 is required, or award funds must be returned to the Foundation within 30 days.

Based on federal tax guidelines, individuals receiving an award or grant of at least $600 will receive a Form 1099-MISC for the calendar year in which payment was disbursed.

Application Instructions

Before starting the online application, you will be required to create a Professional Profile account in Proposal Central to begin creating your account at this link.

All files must be saved as a PDF. Documents that do not have a required template should be formatted with ½ inch margins, 11-point Arial Font, and single-spacing (does not apply to figures and tables). All applications and documents must be written in English and avoid use of jargon. If terms are not universally known, spell out the term the first time it is used and note the appropriate abbreviation in parentheses. The acronym may be used thereafter.

Note: The Foundation does not require an official signature from an authorized institutional research office at the time of application. However, many institutions require an application to be reviewed prior to submission. Please check with your research office for your institution's requirements.
